30. Match the characters with the extracts from their diaries:
 1. "It's all over now," he whispered. "The curse has been lifted and you are safe."
 "We are all safe now," I said, as tears of joy rolled down my cheeks. "Finally, we are free."
 We never spoke of Dracula again that day, but the memories will haunt us for ever.
 2. We left Charing Cross station on the morning of the 12th and arrived in Paris on the same night. We then took the Orient Express and arrived in Varna at about 5pm. I am happy to report that Mina is looking much better. I would have preferred her to stay at home, but she insisted on coming with us. She is sure that her telepathic connection to Dracula will help us on our mission.
 3. I spent most of the day reading the journal; in fact, I could not tear myself away from it. It was a shocking story indeed, but the most disturbing part was when I realised that Dracula's residence, Carfax, is situated right next to the asylum, and next to my own home!
 4. There was a disturbing article in the Westminster Gazette today. It said that children have been disappearing from Hampstead Heath, a park near the cemetery where Lucy was buried. The missing children have all been found with tiny wounds on their necks and they claim that a strange, pale woman lured them away. This is a very worrying development indeed.
